WIDE TIRES A HELP

IMMENSE BENEFIT IN KEEPING HIGHWAYS IN GOOD CONDITION.

CONCERTED ACTION NEEDED

Two-Ton Load on Wagon With 1 1/2 Inch Tires Will Do More Damage in Cutting Up Road Than Twice the Load on Three Inch Tire.

By HOWARD H. GROSS.

The question of good roads throughout the country is of tremendous importance, and the people are everywhere clamoring for them. The great majority seem to be wandering around in a maze of uncertainty as to what to do.

The solution involves many factors. Local conditions are subject to a wide variation both as to soil, road material, amount of traffic, etc. Hence no rule can be laid down that will apply in all cases. The subject must be given intelligent treatment by a capable engineer, familiar with the surroundings.

There is however one thing that can be done that will be of immense benefit to the roads of all times, whether earth, stone or gravel, and that is wider tires upon the wagons. Unhappily millions of dollars of damage to highways is done every year by heavy loads upon narrow tire farm wagons. These are often from one and a half inches to one and three-quarters wide, seldom more than two and a quarter. A two-ton load on a wagon with one and three-quarters inch tires will do more damage in cutting up a road than twice the load upon a three inch tire. If we could have uniform, concerted action in any community, whereby three to three and a half inch tires would be put upon every farm wagon, it would mean much better highways than we now have. The narrow tires mean deep ruts, and if the rule is a narrow tire upon wagons, the man who goes out upon these fair authorities discovered that if the exhibits were hauled in and out on these roads it would destroy them, because of the narrow tires that prevailed upon the wagons of the truck and express companies. The authorities established a rule that no narrow tire wagons could come on the grounds. There was a great howl by the transportation companies, but the fair authorities stood firm, and the teaming companies met the conditions by substituting a wide for a narrow tire upon the same wheel. They simply took off say a two and a half inch tire and put on one three and a half inches or four inches upon the same wheel and the same fellow. This served the purpose.

About three years ago the city of Chicago passed an ordinance providing for wide tires upon vehicles using the streets for traffic. A tremendous howl was made by all teaming interests and they brought in the wagon makers to state that the changing of these wheels meant an expenditure of millions upon millions of dollars, and it would take several years in order to have the change made. Large manufacturers of wagons said the wagon stock was gotten out for the narrow tire wagons, and it would take at least two years before any general change could be made. At that time the writer took a hand in the campaign with others, and published in the Chicago papers illustrations of how this change could be made (see cut here-within). The city council stood firm, the ordinance was passed and the users of narrow tires were arrested and fined. In a very short time wide tires began to appear upon the streets, and now the use is general and the solution has been mainly as indicated, namely, substituting wide tires for narrow ones upon the same wheels. Any local blacksmith or wagon maker can make the change indicated and the expense ought to range between $8.00 and $12.00 for a wagon. The illustration is no simple that anyone can follow it.

The question is, how shall this be brought about? The writer would suggest a state law licensing all the vehicles, the same as the automobile is now licensed, and let it apply upon everything that goes upon the road, graduating it with a view of making quired to more a given load, over various surfaces with tires of different widths. Many persons will be surprised to know in the large majority of cases a load can be moved with less power with vehicles having wide tires, rather than narrow ones. There may be another and easier way to accomplish the end desired than the imposing of a license tax upon vehicles. That would be to credit the owner a certain amount each year on his annual road tax bill, upon furnishing proof that all his vehicles used upon the highways conformed to the wide tire requirements.

Suppose the owner has a road tax of, say $12.00, and he has two wagons used upon the highways. Credit him $4.00 per year upon each wagon for four years. In this way the tax abated will more than pay the cost of changing the wagon. Thus, his interest would be sufficient to induce the owner to make the change.

Public sentiment would also change rapidly in support of the wide tire movement, and in a year or two a man would be ashamed to be seen on the street with one of these road destroying wagons.

The plan suggested is feasible, practical and has worked satisfactorily where it has been tried. There is no reason why action should not be taken along the lines indicated.

Referring to the illustration above, a wide tire can be placed upon an old wheel without any flange piece as shown in the illustration. Just let the tire project a half inch on each side of the felloe. This will greatly simplify the changing from the narrow to the wide tire, and for many localities will serve the purpose just as well.

Wide tires make roads, narrow tires destroy them. There should be a thorough co-operation between all of the residents of the several townships for better roads. Nothing can be done so quickly and so cheaply that will be productive of such good results as to discard narrow tires and substitute wide ones in their place.

250,000 PUDDINGS FURNISHED

London Manufacturer Made That Many to Meet the Demands of the Christmas Spirit.

The manufacture of plum pudding in England is mainly confined to London and is carried on by all the principal bakeries, delicatessen and other establishments. The industry was greatly boomed by the Boer war.

In the opening days of that struggle the British government, for the sake of the soldiers and the fathers and sons and husbands in far away Africa, and the plum pudding was requisitioned in large quantities to express the feeling at home and carry at least a spark of Christmas cheer to enliven the soldiers' camp.

Thousands of pounds of plum pudding were sent out, but the demand was far in excess of the supply, a fact which gave greater urgency to the demand and by concentrating general interest in the pudding added immensely to its popularity, and especially as the soldier called fondly for more. The result is that today the bulk of plum pudding consumed in the United Kingdom is supplied by public purveyors and hundreds of thousands of pounds are shipped abroad. Manufacturers begin active operations as soon as the new crops of raisins, currants and other required fruits appear in September. All the constituents of plum pudding, which do not include plums, are prepared and manipulated by elaborate and expensive machinery. Currants are washed and stems removed, raisins are stoned, nuts are shelled and ground, oranges and lemons are peeled, the peel candied and cut up, eggs are beaten and all other ingredients prepared by machinery.

Exclusive of milk and rum the ingredients used by a single manufacturer in supplying plum pudding to meet the demands of the Christmas season of 1910 aggregated 620,140 pounds, the number of puddings furnished aggregating 250,000. There are three or four London manufacturers, says Daily Consular and Trade Reports, each of whose output perhaps equaled that described, and there are quite a large number of smaller establishments in which plum pudding was supplied for home and foreign consumption.

The pudding is put up in packages weighing one to five pounds each and is securely packed to insure preservation and safe transportation. Properly prepared and packed the plum pudding of England, with ordinary care on the part of the housewife, will retain its virtues for a year or more.

American Aviating Girl.

The aviating girl is quite an established feature of American life. She has superseded the old-fashioned matinee girl, and is very much more important. Her one dream is that she may, at some time or another, be dashed to death with her legs spread out. If you want to find her, when next you attend an aviation meeting in America, do not look for her on the lawn or in the grand stand. You will not even find her in the clubhouse. Cross over to the hangar—that is the place for the aviating girl. Beautifully dressed, she will sit for four or five hours on a box, or a log of wood, or an upturned bucket, just near the doorway of the hangar. You may stare at her, photograph her, do what you will—she will not move. The spirit of martyrdom is as strong within her as in the Indian fakir. By and by, later in the day, it is faintly possible that "she" may let her creep to the machine and go for a ride. That is why she is waiting, waiting.

LIME TO DISINFECT STABLE

Will Be Found Excellent to Destroy Decaying or Animal Matter—Preserve All Manure.

To disinfect a stable and destroy decaying animal or vegetable matter, lime is excellent to use. It should be preserved and employed as follows:

Where manure is made over, it is decomposed the manure and liberates the ammonia—the most valuable element of plant food.

Acid phosphate, ground rock phosphate and land plaster are the three best materials to use if other absorbents are scarce.

Alf slacked lime contains a mixture of carbonate and hydrate of lime. It is not so caustic as fresh burned lime. Lime stone is perfectly neutral and has the same value as dirt or road dust as an absorbent. It also possesses a value on sour, heavy soil because it neutralizes the soil acidity and improves its physical condition.

DEVICE FOR FEEDING SWINE

Swill Poured Through Tube Eliminates Trouble Caused by Animals Trying to Get It.

The illustration shows a handy hog feeder which will save the farmer much trouble, says a writer in the Handy for Feeding Hogs.

Orange Judd Farmer. Make a tube with inch boards about three and one-half feet high. Place this at one end of trough. Pour swill through this tube and you will not be bothered by the hogs in their eagerness to get the swill.

Sheep Are Nervous.

Sheep are nervous animals and of rather delicate constitutions and suffer more from bad ventilation and overcrowding than any other animal on the farm; it is a mistake therefore to confine sheep during the winter in close quarters. If kept dry their fleeces will keep them warm. Who ever heard of sheep freezing to death?

Leather Halter Preferred.

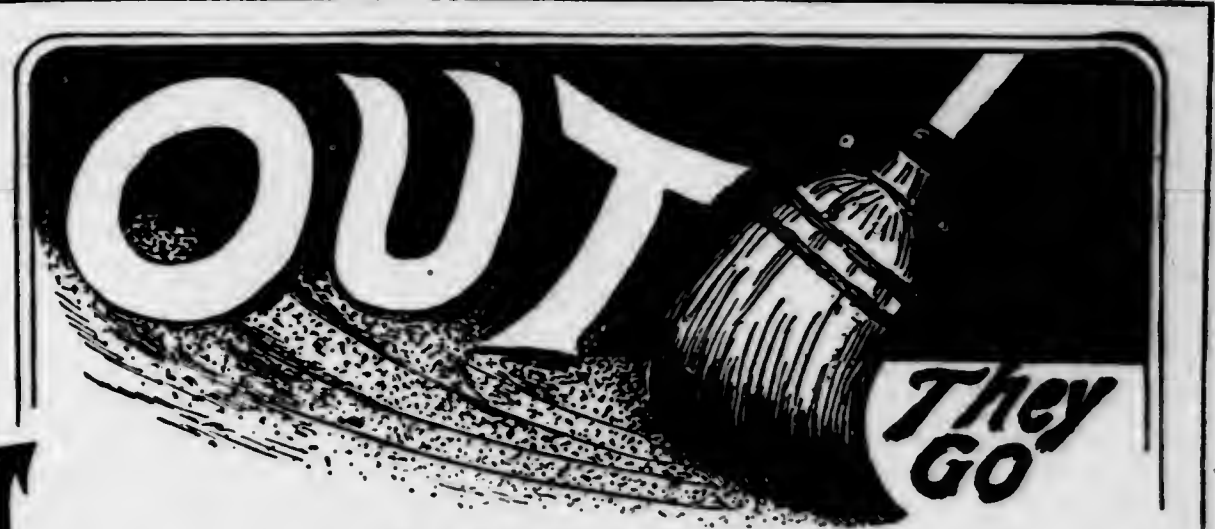

Use a leather halter rein instead of a chain when tying horses in their stalls. They may become enraged and the leather rein may possibly break and release them without serious injury, while the chain will hold and often times cause their death.

Mistake of Breeders.

A great many breeders seem to think if they possess a pure-bred boar two quality of the sows does not count for much. This is a sad mistake indeed, and farmers cannot be too careful in the selection of well-bred sows.

Pigs of Large Litters Best.

It is a fact that the pigs of large litters are usually more uniform in size and fatten more quickly than those of small litters. Here is where the good breeding of the sow comes in.

CLEANING TIME

As filth files before the broom, so do disease germs, effete and impure matter and foul humors in the blood fly before

ELECTRIC BRAND BITTERS

They can't stand against this matchless broom of the blood. Out they go, along with the troubles they cause, such as pimples, boils, sores, eczema, salt-rheum, malaria, rheumatism and kidney disorders. It makes a clean sweep. It cures quickly and cures to stay. It gives glorious health and vigor to the weak, sickly and run-down.

The Old Richmond Mines

Sketch by Amy M. Longest
In the northern part of Muhlenberg county where its rolling, grassy, fields change to woodland hills whose steep sides are interrupted with jutting rocks and awing cliffs, before its separation from Ohio county by the tranquil waters of Green River are yet to be seen the remains of one of the oldest mining camps in the county.

A few years after the building of the I. C. R. R. Jim Parks from Richmond, Ky., opened these mines and named them in honor of his home town. The camp or village was a small one consisting of not more than twenty five houses (part of which were occupied by negroes,) a store and two boarding houses. The big boarding house, a two story building with an open passage leading to the old log kitchen stood on top of the hill near the mines. It was built for the accommodation of the miners and was kept by several different families. The small boarding house, a cottage, was almost hidden in a valley at the rear of the store which stood on the ground now occupied by the Martwick ware room or freight depot. Lucretia Palmer an old colored woman cooked at this cottage for the clerks, superintendent and other men interested in the enterprise who had rooms in the store building.

For several years Richmond was a quiet prosperous little town. The children went to a near-by school house to learn the three "R's". The miners toiled at their laborious work. Near-by farmers brought their produce to the mines to sell. It was a typical mining village. The only accident which happened resulting in death was that of Ambrose Grady, colored. It is said that one evening after having some difficulty in getting his shot fired, he made the remark that he would shoot it or go to H—-. He finally fired it, but in climbing out of the shaft he fell, his body was badly crushed, death being instantaneous. There was a Baptist church near Nelson creek where the white people who were so disposed attended services. A log cabin was given by the Company to the negroes in which to conduct their worship. At one time there was a great revival at this old cabin, many white people went to it, work almost stopped at the mines and shouting and praying was the order of the day. Beer drinkings and similar affairs were unknown; the people lived the simple life.

The dense woods surrounding the mines was a hunters paradise; wild turkeys, squirrels, coons, etc., were plentiful. Some people yet remember seeing the deer and timid fawn on their way to the licks. One night the bailer at the mines had just hoisted a tub of water when in the darkness he beheld what seemed to be two glowing coals; he was badly frightened, but soon discovered that it was only a fawn; for it scamped away into the thicket at his approach.

There were many springs in the vicinity of Richmond Mines, near one of these on what known as the Davis place a large party of men, women and children from Louisville camped one summer.

In the year of 1881 the mines were leased to the C. C. and I. Co., for a period of fifteen years with a contract to build ninety houses. The houses were not built, and in a short time work was stopped. No one knew why, but it was supposed that the company leased it merely to avoid competition against their mines at Central City and McHenry. A law suit followed which resulted in the C. C. and I. Co. buying the property.

The village was then abandoned and a few years later the houses were sold to different farmers living near who tore them down in order to use the lumber for other purposes.

So to day all that remains of the mining camp of thirty five years ago, are a few old logs and some heaps of broken brick. The old boiler was not removed, and the road bed over which coal was hauled from a vein of number eleven to the railroad is yet to be seen, though the growth of shrubbery on its steep banks makes it have more the appearance of a work of nature than that of man.

The old graveyard with its sunken mounds overgrown with rank weeds and grasses and its headstones half buried in the drifting sands of years, is a mute reminder of a people who lived in the vicinity even before the mines were opened.

That they were a long lived people is shown by these epitaphs:

Susanna daughter of M. M. Hamm born July 12, 1799, died Aug. 24, 1869.

Mary Hamm born July 12, 1779, died Aug. 10, 1858.

Sacred to the memory of W. Graves, died Dec. 19th. 1840 aged 83.

Mary Ferguson born Dec. 15, 1758; died Dec. 24, 1848.

Mary K. Davis wife of Isaac Davis born Apr. 27, 1785; died Sept. 14, 1870.

Some of the oldest graves are marked by monuments of sand stone and if they ever bore any inscriptions time has completely obliterated them.

Near this graveyard an old colored woman lives who was born in the year of 1823. She knew very little about the Richmond mines, and though her power of speech is almost gone she speaks of the days when she as a slave had been separated from her children carried or driven from place to place to be sold.

Just across the railroad from the graveyard on another hill stands a big old fashioned farm house, impressive in its silence and decay but from base to garret there is no clew to its history except this slate carved high up on the rock in the stack chimney "L. D. Robinson-17, 1826 and over the door, "No 3" was painted which indicated that it had been a "Company" house at one time.

It seems that the link in the chain of the history of this vicinity, connecting the past with the present has almost worn away; but a new link is being forged, a new era is dawning, an era whose history will be written and told in the years to come. For in 1910 the Greenville Coal Co., purchased the Richmond mines and other tracts of land making a total of 5000 acres. Within shooting distance of that old camp a new town has sprung up named Martwick, a town whose houses are made of the best material—a mine opened where modern machinery and methods are used. A tippie built whose design and workmanship are probably the best in the county. A hotel built where the surroundings are as beautiful as an artist might wish. And the land cleared where agricultural pursuits can be followed. In fact Martwick promises to be a leading mining town among the many which dot the hillsides of Muhlenberg county. A town whose life's story will not sink so nearly into oblivion as that of its forerunner Old Richmond whose meager history has been roughly told in the preceding columns.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

It is intended to let the contract this week, and the house will be ready for occupancy by the middle of September. Such an enterprise, conducted on right lines, will prove a valuable one, and a great convenience to much of the traveling public.

Our readers see in this issue the statement of The First National Bank, as it is a good one from every viewpoint.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Colville, of McMinnville, Tenn., will arrive this week on a visit to Mrs. Bettie Haves, Mrs. H. A. McNary and relatives.

To our customers: For your convenience we will be open Sunday mornings until 9 o'clock.

Baby buggies at Roark's.

June has not been a month of brides here by any means.

Bad roads are simply highway robbery.

Window shades, door mats, curtain poles, porch seats, drawer pulls (wood, brass, glass) drapery rods, all sorts of small things for the home at Roark's.

Hurt by Mine Explosion.

Mr. Arthur Meeks, a well known miner engaged in the Powderly mine of Greenville Coal Co. was severely injured Monday afternoon by a blast which he fired. It appears that he had put in three shots, which he lighted at one time, and before he had reached the last one and gotten to a place of safety the first shot exploded, the concussion and falling coal injuring Meeks dangerously. It is thought that he will lose the sight of one eye, and is suffering from other injuries. Fortunately no one else was near him, as several persons were in the mine, but at safe distance.

Drop in at Roark's and hear the Victrola play the newest selections in songs, band and orchestra numbers, speeches, etc.

Mr. John G. Barkley, Sr., brought to this office this week a bunch of sweet clover that was four and a half feet high, and one of thirteen in the stool. This is a great crop for forage and pasture, and is a fine thing to reclaim wornout land when turned under. The acreage in the county is growing, and the results are reported to be highly satisfactory.

For sale—One full blooded Jersey male calf, one year old; will sell worth the money.

J. E. COOMBS.

The "Tom Thumb Wedding" given at the Cumberland church last Thursday night drew a large audience, which was so pleased that a general request was made for a repetition, which was given the following evening. The parts were all well taken, and the features well received. The ladies' auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. gathered a considerable sum from the entertainments, and is practically free of debt.

Fire Monday Does Small Damage.

Fire in the slaughter house of J. E. Coombs did about $15 damage Monday morning. A lot of fallow was being rendered, and a fire that was too hot caused the grease to boil over and ignite, destroying the contents of the boiler and doing small damage to the interior and roof of the building. Fortunately several persons were near by and soon reached the fire, or the building and contents would have been destroyed. About $150 worth of hides were in the building, and the loss would have been considerable. There was no insurance, but now there is.

A Beautiful Celebration.

There is a mingled feeling of cheer and sadness felt by every one as their natal day approaches, but cheer predominates when the day is remembered by our loved ones with deeds of thoughtful kindnesses.

Last Friday was the Seventy-seventh birthday of one of our loveliest women, Mrs. P. A. Lovell, the widow of John Lovell. Mrs. Lovell is widely known in all circles, being the step mother of a large family, as well as the mother of seven children, and the grandmother of a large connection, and the combined efforts of all made her seventy-seventh birthday a most happy one. On the evening of the day the family, (children and grand children) met at the home of Mrs. Lovell, where Mrs. Henry Lovell served a splendid, as well as beautiful, supper, and as the table was being changed one of the daughters presented to her mother an old-fashioned pound cake covered with candles, one for each year, all lighted. It was a beautiful surprise to all present, and after supper the mother was shown to a table covered with many useful as well as enjoyable gifts from all the relation. While she was enjoying this feature of her natal day, the front lawn was being illuminated by the grandchildren, to which they conducted their grandmother, and where the evening was turned over to the children, and this feature, which shows there is something for the least of us to do, made the birthday party a happy success.

Mrs. Lovell is a lovely type of woman, and her many friends wish her continued happiness and good health.

Boys Camp.

The boys of the western part of Kentucky are to have the opportunity this year for the first time of having a state camp. It is to be on Green river between Livermore and Calhoun. The name of the camp is, "Camp Wickenburg" and the time is July 23d. to Aug 2nd. making a ten days stay. The expense including everything except transportation expenses for the ten days is $7.00. Only sixty boys can be accommodated so if you want to go you better hand in your name. Any boy desiring to go to this camp should see Geo. T. Anderson, Secty. Y. M. C. A. Any boy over 12 and under 18 years of age is eligible to go to the camp.

The camp will be under the supervision of the State Committee of Young Mens Christian Association. Parents should feel free to let their boys attend this camp as it will be a factor for good in their lives, and the supervision will be expert and ample to look after all the boys. The camp rules will be out in pamphlet form in a few days.

HOWARD & GRAY, Agents.

Madisonville has been having its first Chautauqua this week, under the Redpath bureau, and has entertained large crowds. Some of the leading characters and musical organizations of the country have appeared.

It is likely the I. C. will soon begin the work of constructing the stretch of pike on the "cut off" near Depoy. County officials have for some time been in communication with the officials, and arrangements have been made, it is thought.

Notice to A. S. of E. Members.

As the Fourth of July comes on the regular meeting day of the County Union, it is hereby called to meet on Friday, July 4th, at 7:30 p. m. All members are requested to elect and send delegates, as business of importance will be presented.

Rev. James Baird, of Guthrie, occupied the pulpit at the Baptist church here Sunday night and was greeted by a large number of friends, who enjoyed his able discourse.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Taylor left for Louisville the first of the week, where Mrs. Taylor will be under the care of a specialist.

Mr. Elmer McCracken went to Dawson Springs yesterday for a short stay.

About 100 new Victor records were received by Roark this week. Drop in and hear the latest in popular and the most enduring of the standard productions, rendered by the world's best artists.

Pressure is now being brought by the farmers for permanent highways. They are offering to haul the stone, will subscribe money, and are demanding a relief from such conditions as we had here last winter and this spring, when an empty wagon could not be gotten over the road.

Hon. R. Y. Thomas, Jr., was here a day or two the latter part of the week. He will be in the district until the August primary, and will make an active canvass for the nomination of the Democratic party for another term in Congress.

Monday was county court day, but the crowd of visitors was light, as farmers are too busy to let loose for anything.

Best one ever made—the Kirsch curtain rods; Roark has a large line.

Full attendance has been the rule at the Alice theatre this week, where a vaudeville team has been added to the attraction of the moving pictures.

Roark has 93 patterns of Chairs, Rockers and Stools on the sample floor and a heavy stock back of them.

A game of baseball will be one of the attractions of the Sunday-school picnic on the Fourth.

Muhlenberg County S. S. Convention.

The annual convention of the Sunday-schools of the county will be held at Powderly next Sunday, the exercises beginning at 9:30 a. m. and lasting all day, closing exercises scheduled for 3:30 p. m. The program is varied and promises instruction and interest for the vast crowd which will be in attendance. Dinner will be served on the ground.

One of our popular young women has for some time been extremely fond of "My Hero" waltz, and is playing, singing and whistling it almost incessantly. Some of her friends have concluded that June is to bring an event of importance, hence the appreciation of the beautiful waltz song.

Next Thursday is the Fourth.

Rev. Rogers, of Nashville, was here Monday, selling books and meeting old friends. He preached on the streets, and for many years has been making like visits here.

The Sunday-schools of the city will have their annual picnic on the Fourth.

POULTRY HOUSE FOR FARMER
Expensive and Elaborate Structure is Not Necessary, but Dry, Well Ventilated One Is.

By J. W. GRIMMING
The size of our home poultry-building is 16x10 feet, 8 feet at the front eave, and 7 at the rear eave, and 8 feet at the comb. The floor should be the natural earth if the house is located on a well drained place. If not, there should, of course, be a plank floor.

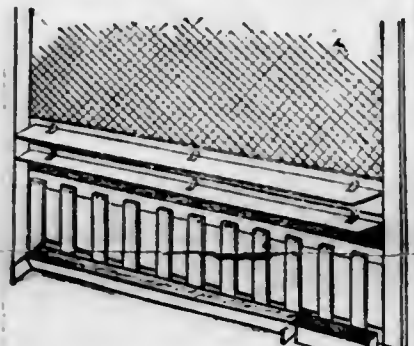

For the convenience of the keeper, the building should be divided into three rooms in the front part; the hallway at the rear should run the entire length of the building. The hallway is 4 feet wide; this will leave the three rooms 12x12 feet.

The partitions between these rooms should be made solid two and one-half feet high. The rest of the partition can be of poultry-wire netting.

The upper part of the partition between the hallway and the rooms is made of wire netting. In the hallway we keep the supply of food for the poultry, and a few barrels of road-dust that we gather up during a dry time in the summer. This is for the dust-boxes during the winter, when the hens should not be out on the cold ground.

The watering and feeding troughs are set along the slatted partition, just inside the hallway; the chickens reach through between the slats for their food and water.

The nests are placed on a platform just above the slatted part of the partition, and the dropping-board is placed on the nest-boxes, and the perches on the dropping-boards.

The platform for the nests, the dropping-boards, and the perches are put in in divisions, three of 12 feet each. This facilitates the cleaning as all of the interior arrangements are removed at housecleaning-time, which is twice a year—spring and fall.

This is the general cleaning time; the pens are cleaned each week, and the dropping-boards each day. The manure saved by cleaning the dropping-boards each day from a hundred hens pays handsomely, not only in the value of the manure, but in keeping the house clean. The boxes are each one complete within itself.

The openings of the curtained windows are covered with poultry netting. The house is made perfectly light except the curtained windows. There is a ventilator in each end at the gable for summer ventilation.

The floors of the pens should be covered with cut straw, or better still, dry leaves gathered in the fall and stored away to be used through the winter.

The grain food when scattered in these leaves or straw gives the fowls the much needed exercise. The dry mash-feeds and meat-scrap, etc., are fed in the troughs.

Poultry House.

The interior should be thoroughly sprayed with lime-and-sulphur solution. Use equal parts of lime and sulphur in making the whitewash and you will not be troubled with lice, chiggers or mites that trouble the poultry.

Corrective for Overeating.
Charcoal is an excellent corrective of the evils of injudicious overfeeding, and is also a good remedy in bowel disorders in poultry. Having wonderful absorbent powers, especially for gases, only a small quantity should be put into the feed hoppers at a time on account of its absorptive nature.

It should be kept in a thoroughly dry vessel with a close-fitting cover, so as to exclude the air. If charcoal is heated well before given to the poultry, it will have a tendency to drive off the impurities which may have become absorbed, and it will be equal to fresh charcoal.

Keep Off the Grass.
Little chickens should be kept off the grass as much as possible, when it is wet with dew. The hen should be well fed and watered, so that she may rest content in the coop; then if the little ones range far enough on their own account to get damp, they have a dry mother to return to and will take no hurt.

"The Liver Pills act So Naturally and Easily."

Such a statement, coming from the cashier of a bank, shows what confidence responsible people have in these pills. Mr. A. L. Wilson after trying them wrote:

"I have used Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills and also your Anti-Pain Pills, on myself, with good results. The Liver Pills act so naturally and so easily that I scarcely know that I have taken a pill. Frequently being troubled with headache I take an Anti-Pain Pill and get immediate relief in every case."
A. L. Wilson, Sparta, Ill.
Mr. Wilson was for a number of years cashier of the First National Bank of Sparta.

Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills are different from others. Many kinds of liver pills are "impossible" after one trial on account of their harshness. Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills do not act by sheer force but in an easy, natural way, without griping or undue irritation. They are not habit forming.

If the first bottle fails to benefit, your druggist will return the price. Ask him.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is not a symptom of, and is not a true disease. We think of dyspepsia, heartburn, and indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve weakness—nothing else.
It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop to the creation of that most very popular stomach remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going directly to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. With each lasting accomplishment never ever to be had, for stomach distress, bloating, flatulency, bad breath and yellow countenance, Dr. Shoop's Restorative Tablets or Liquid—and see for your self what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.
